Welcome to the first edition of the Richmond Area Business Association's Web Site Newsletter!

We encourage you to share this newsletter with others. If you would prefer to receive this newsletter in Plain Text (no graphics) reply and let us know.

The Richmond Area Business Association's Website, was created to benefit RABA members, the communities we serve (Bolton, Huntington and Richmond) and their citizens. Our Website has lots of information about our members, area news and events, eCommerce tips, community and business resources.

We especially want to let RABA members know how to use our Website to promote your business and/or organization. We expect to email you this newsletter monthly. Your feedback about this newsletter and/or the RABA is welcomed.

I would like to introduce the members of the RABA Website Committee:

Billy Keyworth is chair of the committee and was recently named president of the Association, see press release. Billy operates Keyworth Graphics, a graphic design and web design and development firm in Huntington. Billy's keen eye for web design and development keeps us on track, and he is responsible for the look, feel and the many features of our new web site.

Marie Thomas represents the Beacon Light Grange within the RABA and is our tireless web site Community Liaison. When she isn't on assignment for FEMA to a disaster, Marie engages us with her many great ideas, and is our Events & News Editor. Let Marie know if you have some news and/or an event you would like posted at the web site. Marie lives in Richmond.

Amy Todisco of Huntington, operates Green Living Now, a small, family-owned online store, that sells organic and natural products. Amy is passionate about researching healthy products for personal, household and domestic animal use (that she and her family use) and providing the best to her customers. Amy is our Directory Administrator (member listings and profiles). Amy publishes a free email newsletter about her products.

Larry Bohan owns and operates Audiobooks Online, with his wife Sally, and a few dedicated employees. Audiobooks Online has been on the Web since 1994 and is perhaps the oldest specialty audiobooks online merchant. Larry started the RABA eCommerce Special Interest Group (SIG) in 2003 with the goal of mentoring others for success on the Web. Larry is also the author of this first newsletter.
